Superfine International offers waterproof electrical distribution boards suitable for Afghan conditions. Their products are ISO-compliant, tested individually, and available in various sizes and thicknesses, with OEM options. Shivoham Enterprises and other wholesale suppliers provide outdoor electrical distribution boxes made from steel, aluminum, or plastic.

These enclosures are designed for IP66/IP67 protection, safeguarding electrical components from dust, moisture, and environmental hazards. They are widely used in power distribution, telecommunications, and industrial automation.

Product Types and Applications

Indoor Electrical Boxes: Meter boxes, panel boxes, and control enclosures for residential and commercial use.

Outdoor/

Weatherproof Boxes: IP-rated enclosures for protection against rain, dust, and temperature fluctuations. Cable Trays and Ladder Systems: For structured wiring and industrial installations. Custom Solutions: Many Afghan manufacturers offer customized enclosures to meet specific project requirements.

These brands and suppliers provide a comprehensive range of electrical boxes suitable for both residential, commercial, and industrial applications in Afghanistan, ensuring compliance with international safety and quality standards.
