Price of galvanized steel distribution boxes

Overview

Galvanized distribution boxes available for wholesale, starting at $5. Ideal for outdoor electrical panel boxes, air divider junctions, and waterproof TV enclosures.

Key Takeaways

Galvanized steel distribution boxes can range from as low as $5 for small wholesale units to several hundred dollars for industrial-grade enclosures, with total costs influenced by size, capacity, and installation.

Price Range

The cost of a galvanized steel distribution box varies widely depending on specifications and application. Small, basic units available in bulk can start at around $5 per unit for wholesale purchases. Standard residential or commercial boxes typically cost between $100 and $500, while industrial-grade or customized units with advanced features can reach $1,000 or more.

Factors Affecting Cost

Material and Construction: Galvanized steel provides corrosion resistance and long-term durability, often making it more cost-effective over the life cycle compared to painted or powder-coated alternatives. Size and Capacity: Larger boxes with higher amperage ratings or more circuits naturally cost more. Internal Components: Boxes sold empty are cheaper, but adding circuit breakers, surge protectors, and busbars increases the price significantly.

Installation: Labor costs for installation can range from $1,300 to $1,800 for standard residential setups, with industrial installations potentially costing much more due to complexity and permits. Environmental Rating: Outdoor or weather-resistant enclosures carry premium pricing compared to indoor-rated units.

Life-

Cycle Considerations: Galvanized steel requires minimal maintenance for decades, making it more economical over time despite a higher initial cost.

Summary

While the initial purchase price of a galvanized steel distribution box can be modest for small units, the total cost including installation, internal components, and long-term durability can vary significantly. For accurate pricing, it is recommended to consult local suppliers or galvanizers, as costs depend on project-specific requirements, location, and quantity.
